

SPECIAL CHURCH SERVICES TODAY

CHURCHES OF THE CITY WILL HOLD CHRISTMAS SERVICES TODAY.

FINE MUSICAL PROGRAMS

Special Music Appropriate to the Season Has Been Arranged in all the Churches.

Today will be the last Sunday before Christmas and in nearly every church in Tulsa special exercises will be held, while most of the pastors will preach sermons bearing upon Yuletide thoughts.

Elaborate musical programs have been arranged for the day in many of the churches. The largest attendance of the year is expected at all the churches for most everyone, whether he is a regular worshiper or not, generally figures on spending "Christmas Sunday" at church.

At four of the largest downtown churches elaborate cantatas will be given tonight, by augmented choirs, with out-of-town vocalists and musicians featured on some of the programs.

The regular Sunday school Christmas morning will not be held until next Tuesday or Wednesday, with one or two exceptions. Some of the Sunday schools will give their Christmas tree affair this morning or tonight, but the majority of them will occur either Tuesday or Wednesday night.

At the First Presbyterian church the Rev. C. W. Kerr will preach this morning on "The Message of Christmas," and there will be special music, including a vocal solo by Mrs. Frost. The evening service will be given up almost solely to a musical service, with quartet numbers, pipe organ solos, and vocal solos by Mr. Morgan, Mrs. Burgess, Mrs. Reese, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Barnes, Mr. Bid-dison and others.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church Sunday morning the sermon and the musical number will all emphasize the holy day, the birthday of Christ. The regular evening hour will be devoted entirely to a musical hour, under the direction of Miss El-Holt, organist, Mr. Swagerty, director, and a large chorus choir. One of the features of this program will be a duet by the Misses Edith and Bess Thurman.

At the Boston Avenue M. E. church, South, this morning, the pastor, Doctor Knickerbocker, will preach on the subject, "What If Christ Had Not Come?" There will be special choral and solo music. At the evening hour there will be given a sacred cantata, "The Everlasting Light," by a choir of twenty voices, with C. G. Spindler as director and Miss Mary Cover as organist.

At the Lutheran church there will be special Christmas sermons both morning and evening, and special music by a double quartet. The Lutheran church is planning to hold service on Christmas day, also.

At the First Christian church the day will be characterized by meetings morning, afternoon and night, conducted by Evangelist Harlow. It will be the close of the great Harlow revival meetings.

Musical by an orchestra and choir will feature services at College Hill Presbyterian church, while special Christmas sermons will be preached

DO YOUR PLANS INCLUDE A PIANO?

If they do it is a duty you owe yourself to investigate before you pay a penny or sign any agreement. This house counts the most searching comparison. We know our Pianos are the most dependable money can buy and we know that our methods are right—because they are honest, and honest methods are the only kind that endure. Every Piano we sell is priced upon the basis of actual cost of production. No juggling is indulged in, no fakery permitted. A visit to our store and a most critical examination of our Pianos will convince you that we offer a better Piano for either cash or easy payments than the same money will buy anywhere in Eastern Oklahoma. You should, in justice to yourself, make earnest investigation and honest comparison. A Piano is usually purchased but once in a lifetime, therefore, know what you buy and why you pay the price asked.

BARGAINS IN SLIGHTLY USED INSTRUMENTS

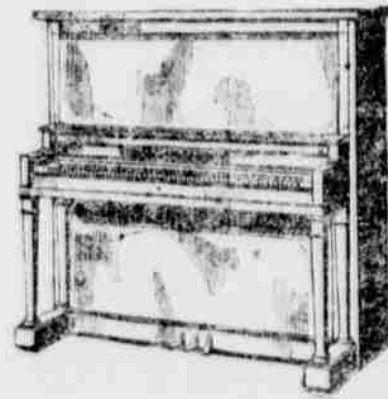

Whatever you buy of us is standard of its make and class and is covered by the broad guarantee of Eastern Oklahoma's largest Piano house, and be it known that we have never repudiated a guarantee nor resorted to trickery to avoid giving a plain, simple, easily understood agreement to stand back of every instrument we sell.

MISSOURI 2 CENT RATE WAS UPHELD

Missouri Injunctions of the Railroads Were Yesterday Dismissed by the Court.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 20.—Missouri's 2-cent passenger rate law and the maximum freight rate law were today sustained when Judge McPherson of the United States district court dismissed "without prejudice" the injunctions of thirteen roads, prohibiting the state from enforcing the two laws.

Excise rates paid while the injunctions were effective may now be recovered through suits instituted by shippers and passengers. This decision means that Oklahoma people can travel from Oklahoma points to points within Missouri for a straight 2-cent fare. Since the Oklahoma 2-cent law was upheld the roads in that state have been charging 2 cents for intra-state tickets but the passengers had to pay 2 cents a mile as soon as they crossed the line into Missouri.

Was It Force of Habit? An amused smile fluttered over the features of Congressman Samuel J. Tribble of Georgia the other night when the talk topic in the lobby of a Washington hotel turned to the wonderful sayings of the kiddies. He said he was reminded of a recent incident.

A fond father was taking his little 6-year-old daughter to town in a motor car, and on stopping in front of a store he noticed that the drive against the strong wind had made the youngster's eyes water.

"Just a minute, Jessie," said father, wrapping a corner of his handkerchief around one finger and dabbing the little girl's eye. "Let me wipe that tear away."

"Sav," was the rather amazing exclamation of Jessie, "what do you think that is—a push button?"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Keeping It Quiet.

Two sailors were seated at a table before a cafe. One sailor had a letter before him, and was reading aloud, while at the same time the other sailor held his hands over the reader's ears. The friendly waiter, impelled by curiosity, paused before the table.

"Why," he asked, "do you hold your hands over your friend's ears?"

PIMPLES ON HANDS LIKE BLISTERS

Spread Half Way to Elbow. Itched and Burned Till Could Not Sleep. Couldn't Do Work. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

604 Greenville Ave., Staunton, Va.—"I got my hand pimpled some way and it kept getting worse until my whole hand was in a raw mess. Every time I would put it in water it would break out with new pimples like blisters and would spread about an inch until it went half way to my elbow. It hurt so I had to keep a cloth on it to keep from scratching. It itched and burned me till I could not sleep. It had been all summer that I couldn't do my work. They said it was eczema. I saw the advertisement about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I got both. I did not use half of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment till my hand and arm were cured entirely and it has never broken out any more. Now my hand is sound and well." (signed) Mrs. E. V. Decourcy, Sept. 20, 1912.

While he reads that letter out loud to you?" "Because," was the dignified answer, "the letter is from my sweet-heart. Jack is reading it because I can't read myself. That is all right, but I don't him to hear a word of what is written."—National Monthly.

President Wilson on Sherman Law. The of President Wilson that the Sherman anti-trust law should remain unaltered represents the sentiment generally prevailing at this time. It is his opinion that the area of debatable ground should be reduced as much as possible. Manifestly, this is a step that cannot be taken without as clear an understanding as can be had to show what ground is debatable and what is non-debatable. The law and the government with respect to its interpretation should be so plain "that he who runs may read." With an understanding of the acts which are infractions of the law and of the acts which do not contravene the law there will remain that area of uncertainty which causes hesitation and paralysis of business. The government ought to rid business of this handicap.—Electrical World.
